TRAINING

OBJECTIVES

To be able to work as a vocational integration adviser

- to promote the social and vocational integration of young people or adults experiencing difficulties with integration or retraining, by means of individualised responses. He/she takes into account the multiple dimensions of integration: employment, training, housing, health, mobility, access to rights...
- welcome a variety of publics: young people, jobseekers over 25, adults undergoing retraining or professional transition, employed or not, disabled workers, prison leavers to support them in building and implementing their social and professional integration pathway.
- to develop relationships with employers in its area of intervention, thereby contributing to the socio-economic mobilisation of the employment area in the service of integration.
- to participate in setting up and running projects that meet integration goals and are part of local development issues.

And to do this work in a variety of structures: local missions, PAIOs, accommodation and social reintegration centres, local economic integration plans, local authorities, integration associations and companies, training organisations, employment centres, etc.
